

WOULD BLOW UP THE WHOLE TOWN

Powerful Explosive on a Ship at Port Arthur

Jap. Censorship—Japs at Wl Ju—Russia Prepares for Long War—The Foreigners Banished.

Irkutsk, April 5.—The newspaper Vostochnoe Obozreniye says that Port Arthur is imperilled by the proximity of a Russian volunteer ship which is loaded with 250 torpedoes, each containing 240 pounds of the terrible explosive, pyroxilline. The ship is anchored behind Electric hill. The Japanese, continues the paper, have been informed by spies that the vessel is situated here and have been instructed to aim their shells in this direction. Should one shell strike the ship it would cause an explosion that would annihilate the whole town.

Liverpool, April 5.—The Post today commends the Japanese for their strict censorship of all news regarding the movements of ships and troops. The paper asserts that two officials of the Russian embassy read all the far Eastern messages permitted in London papers and telegraph anything that is considered useful to St. Petersburg. Viceroy Alexieff according to the Post, has already been benefited by the information contained in the British and American press.

Birmingham, Eng., April 5.—The Post hears that an inquiry has been addressed by the Mikado's government to Sir Claude McDonald, British minister to Japan, as to whether any objection would be raised against the engagement of expert Englishmen to assist in the organization of a Korean administration. It is not known what reply was given.

Confirmation has reached here of a report that the Japanese have entered Wl Ju on the southern bank of the Yalu river. The Koreans residing at Wl Ju informed the Japanese that the Russians on the upper reaches of the Yalu consist of but small parties.

Rome, April 5.—Reports from Apostolic Vicars in Korea and Manchuria, which have been received by the propaganda say that Russia is in no hurry in the conduct of the war, but is preparing for a five years' struggle. In that time, Russia, they assert, thinks she can exterminate the Japanese.

Port Arthur, April 5.—All English workmen who had been engaged in making repairs on the battleships which were damaged by the Japanese have been put out of Russia, in conformity with the order recently issued by Gen. Stoessel, who is in command of the forces here, expelling all foreigners. The only English person remaining is a female teacher, who is ill and whom Stoessel is nursing at his house.

It was frustrated by Guard Williams, who stood the fire of the convicts, drove them back to their cells and secured help. No one was hurt. Like a Child Mr. Thorn is Being Taught

Novel Experiment Going on at Newark, N. J., Hospital—Thorne's Head Injured Recently

Newark, N. J., April 5.—A novel experiment is going on at the Beth Israel hospital here, where the doctors are endeavoring to teach a man 30 years old how to speak. The patient is Martin Thorne, who was assaulted in his home, No. 215 Prince street, two months ago by men who thought to rob him of several hundred dollars. Thorne had paid the money out, and the robbers got nothing. He was found unconscious and was taken to the Beth Israel hospital, where it was found his skull had been fractured. A large piece of bone which was pressing on his brain was removed and he rapidly recovered in health, although it was found that he had lost all power of speech. The nurses and physicians set about teaching him words of one syllable, and he learned them like a child of two years. He is being taught to put words into sentences, and gave his teachers a surprise yesterday by speaking a word of two syllables. It is expected that in a few months he will be able to talk as well as could be expected of a normal child of 3 years of age.

INSANE MAN IN JUDGE'S CHAIR

Refused to Vacate When Told to Do So

And Fought Like a Demon When Removed by the Officers—His Old Hallucination.

Cumberland, Md., April 5.—A fight with a burly mulatto weighing 200 pounds, with Indian-like features and straight black hair, and who had usurped the chair of the Chief Judge on the bench in the Circuit court caused a great sensation.

Judge Robert R. Henderson, upon entering the court hall, found the man on the bench, and asked him what he meant by occupying the seat, whereupon the negro wanted to know who had the authority to question his right to sit on the bench. Judge Henderson realized that a dangerous lunatic was at large and, going to his private office, summoned court officials, who by ruses tried to have the negro abdicate, but he avowed his purpose to transact business from the bench until 12 noon. He said to Judge Henderson: "You have the honor of addressing Hon. J. A. Draper of Rome, Judge of the Universe."

Deputy Sheriff Wm. E. Hodel was summoned, and, with the assistance of Judge Henderson and four others, the man was floored and handcuffed, but not before the Judge's chair was overturned and two of Deputy Hodel's fingers were painfully bitten by the lunatic. Just before this Draper told Judge Henderson that if he wished to be shot to stand in the middle of the room. The negro is about 40 years of age, with flowing side whiskers, and is a son of Rev. Wm. H. Draper, late pastor of McKendree, Methodist Episcopal church here, who was transferred to Baltimore.

Draper, it is said, became insane from overtaxing his brain while studying. His son, Andrew Draper aged 20 years, secured his release from jail and will take him by train to Baltimore. Draper is a fine musician. One of his hallucinations is his boasted mission to crush out Maryland's Jim Crow law.

An Unanswered Question.

Commercially are the Philippines domestic or foreign? If domestic, duties should not be levied, as they now are, against Philippine products entering the United States. If foreign, Congress should not consider, as it is now doing, a proposition to extend the coastwise laws of the United States to Philippine shipping. The explanation of this discredited scheme is to be found in the petitions of the "infant industries," whispered in the ears of their beneficiary Congressmen.—Chicago Tribune.

The Philippine Islands have been a sort of "conundrum" ever since they were acquired by the United States, and it is doubtful if the Tribune's question will ever get a satisfactory answer. Even the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States have not done much to lift the fog. We have the archipelago, and must do the best we can with it. The acquisition has been the means of making a violent wrench of our form of Government. The warning as to tariff complications was sounded when the seizure of the islands was made. It was first assumed that the purchase of the islands must mean free trade between them and the United States; but ways of surrounding that point were made. It is no joke to suggest that all the Philippine questions be left to the Chief Executive. They are run now without much Congressional direction. The matter of duties has been referred to the Tariff Barons, and they are no sticklers for cardinal principles. They insist that each question affecting the tariff shall be decided in their favor. Economic questions must be subordinated to the exigencies of a military Government.—Enquirer.

The disquieting reports concerning the condition of the emperor of Germany are reiterated, and, although denied, it is declared with much positiveness that he is suffering from cancer of the throat, the disease which carried off his father. The truth of the matter is difficult to be arrived at because of the secrecy imposed for public reasons upon the physicians in attendance upon the kaiser. The actual condition of his father was not publicly known until all hope for his recovery had passed.

LEGISLATURE

ADMINISTRATION HAS PLAN TO AMEND BRANNOCK BILL.

New Canal Measure—Tuberculosis Hospital Bill Introduced in the House—Other Matters.

Columbus, O., April 5.—The administration has decided upon a plan for amending the Brannock local option bill to eliminate blocks from the application of the local option election provisions. Wherever 50 per cent of a street between cross streets is occupied for business purposes, saloons included, it shall be immune from the application of local option elections and remain wet territory so long as this proportion of business obtains. The maximum population of residence districts is also reduced from 5,000 to 2,500. Wayne B. Wheeler, of the anti-saloon league, says he will ask the friends of the bill to kill it rather than have it passed in this form.

The predicted canal bill from Cleveland was brought to Columbus Monday by Attorney F. A. Henry, of Cleveland. It proposes putting the canal bank privileges for railroad occupation up for the highest bidder after due consideration.

It will contain a clause, however, in the interest of the electric mule company, to the effect that in case any other persons or company secures the part upon which the Miami and Erie Transportation company now has its tracks, it must pay that company for its property and rights on that canal at a fair appraisement. How this is to be done is not known, but the opponents of the bill say that the effect of the provision will be to prevent any person or corporation other than the electric mule people from bidding on that part of the canal.

The tuberculosis hospital bill was introduced in the house Monday by LaFever, of Morgan county, as a bill to segregate consumptive cases at the central state hospital. The bill provides for a new building to cost $35,000 to be erected this year to house one sex of the insane consumptive patients and for a $35,000 building for the other sex next year. The state administration has endorsed the bill, the intention being to segregate the consumptive patients.

The joint house and senate committee on privileges and elections met on Monday night and heard arguments upon the Harvey elections bill by United States Marshal F. M. Chandler and W. R. Hopkins of Cleveland. Both argued particularly for the Harvey bill that it offered a cleaner election system than could possibly be secured under the Hypes bill.

KILBOURNE BOOM

For the Presidential Nomination Fairly Started, and Committee of Fifty Prominent Columbus Democrats Organize to Secure Unity for Ohio's Endorsement.

Columbus, O., April 5.—Colonel Jas. Kilbourne's boom for the Democratic nomination for president acquired a decidedly substantial form in this city last night when the so-called Committee of Fifty having his campaign interests in charge, met for the first time "in the open" with a view to promoting astute organization in Colonel Kilbourne's behalf. This committee has been privately active for some weeks, awaiting such assurances from over state as to justify a general movement. It is stated that these assurances have been received, together with other encouragement from beyond the state. Colonel Kilbourne's friends have been heretofore restrained in a measure by his unwillingness to become an active candidate for the support of the Ohio delegation to St. Louis, but this restraint is now thrown off, with or without his consent, and an emphatic Kilbourne propaganda is now in full blast, with all the usual ramifications of a pre-convention campaign on a large scale.

The Committee of Fifty met last night in the assembly rooms of the Great Southern Hotel, threw open the doors, and invited the newspaper men to walk in and inspect the Kilbourne boom. The invitation was promptly accepted and the meeting proved to be as enthusiastic as the most ardent Kilbourne routers could wish.

The Committee of Fifty is composed of that number of Franklin county Democrats who have long been prominent in the councils of the party and all of whom are personal friends of their candidate. It is significant that every Democrat now holding office in the city of Columbus or in Franklin county is a member of the committee, while the number of "ex's" who have at various times carried the city or county, or both, on the Democratic ticket is quite as formidably represented. A temporary organization was effected some time ago and was last night made permanent. This organization consists of Dr. C. F. Gilham, secretary of the state executive committee in the Kilbourne gubernatorial campaign, chairman; Allen W. Thurman, now the Democratic member of the state canal commission, vice chairman; Colonel W. A. Taylor, who came within a few votes of carrying Ohio as the candidate for secretary of state in 1892, secretary; and W. C. Orr, treasurer of the state executive committee in 1901, treasurer.

Other prominent members of the committee who took part in last night's deliberations are Probate Judge Samuel L. Black, Sheriff George J. Karb, Director of Public Service Fred J. Immel, County Surveyor Walter Braun, County Commissioner Henry Mason, Member of the Board of Review W. H. Williams, City Treasurer W. C. Cussins, Secretary of the Sinking Fund Martin A. Genuender, Member of the Board of Education and former State Central Committeeman Fred J. Heer, Hon. Thomas E. Powell, ex-Congressman Joseph H. Outhwaite, ex-Mayor Philip H. Bruck, former Common Pleas Judge T. J. Duncan, C. C. Williams and Eli P. Evans, ex-Sheriff James Ross, former Director of Law Florizel Smith, Dr. Frank S. Warner, Hon. G. H. Barger, George W. Dun, SENATOR EUGENE HALE OF MAINE.

Senator Hale, who says that in four years the United States navy will be exceeded in strength by that of Great Britain alone, is chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs. He has represented Maine in the senate for twenty-three years. The navy since 1883 has cost $70,000,000.

James Caren, John Joyce and various associates whose names are familiar one in more than a local sense.

This committee determined to open Kilbourne state headquarters in the Eberly building on South High street. An executive committee will have charge of the active work, with the Committee of Fifty acting in an advisory capacity. There is no doubt that the Twelfth (Columbus) district will instruct for Kilbourne, and the leaders of the movement profess to have the utmost confidence in the Ohio districts, many of which will hold conventions within the next few weeks. There is no questioning the sincerity of the movement. The men behind it feel that there is more than a desperate chance of nominating Colonel Kilbourne for president, and that Ohio, at least, should take advantage of this opportunity to put forward an Ohio candidate. The Committee of Fifty includes both gold and silver Democrats, but the latter are in the majority. All assert that it is time to drop Democratic differences, unite upon principles in regard to which all are agreed and push Kilbourne to the front as Ohio's candidate.

Monday afternoon, while ex-County Auditor A. B. Coffman, who resides near Mary Ann Furnace, in this county, was engaged in burning brush, the fire got away from him and burned through a fine new orchard. It then got into the woods, where it burned fiercely for several hours, but was finally gotten under control by the farmers of the vicinity who combined to fight the flames.

THE CITY COUNCIL

Receives Budget from Mayor Crilly--Total Levy of 13 Mills--Pittsburg Man Offers the City a Bronze Fountain in Memory of His Father--Council Meeting.

The City Council met Monday night in regular session with President Rosel in the chair, and members present, Bader, Carlisle, Conrad, Jones, Miller and Moser. Clerk Ralph Davis read the minutes of the preceding meeting, which were approved.

The resignation of Noah Andregg as a member of the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees was accepted, and F. M. Schimpf was appointed and confirmed.

The committee on finance recommended that the assessment for paving and curbing Granville and Locust streets be made 20 semi-annual installments, and that the solicitor prepare an ordinance to issue $58,157 refunding bonds. Received and filed.

The street committee recommended that a sanitary sewer be constructed on Oakwood avenue, and a drainage sewer on Pine street. Received and filed.

The committee on law reported in favor of passage of ordinance regulating the sale of milk, and that solicitor prepare a resolution to proceed with construction of municipal water works plant. Received and filed.

The Mayor reported $203 collected during April. Received and filed.

Mayor Crilly also submitted his annual budget as follows:

The City of Newark, Ohio.
To the Honorable the City Council of the City of Newark:

Gentlemen—I herewith transmit the Mayor's Annual Budget for the year 1905.

The several officers of the city and the directors of departments have submitted to me their estimates of the amounts that will be necessary for the maintenance of the several departments of the city during the year 1905, as follows:

General Fund	$12,730.00
Public Safety Fund	$8,231.00
Public Health Fund	750.00
Public Service Fund	20,730.00

Total for Municipal Purposes $42,441.00

And there will be required the following additional sums:

For Hospital Purposes (private as association)	$2,100.00
For Sinking Fund	20,653.95

Grand Total Corporation $65,194.95

This is a sum total, largely in excess of the amount Council should levy, and in fact the total above for Municipal Purposes is in excess of the amount that will be produced by a 10 mill levy, the limit allowed by law.

The Grand Duplicate of the city this year is $7,242,152 and a 10 mill levy will produce $72,421.52—and if Council decides to make a levy for hospital purposes, say 3-10 of a mill, that amount should be deducted from the 10 mills, leaving 9.7-10 mills to be levied for municipal purposes which on the present Grand Duplicate will produce $76,236.57. It is safe to say that the New Tax will produce for 1905 $100,000.00. Fines and licenses will produce $1,000.00. Public Safety, from rents, cemetery and balances at the end of the year will produce $2,205.00. That the balance in the General Fund and Public Safety Fund will be about $3,000.00.

Making a total for the year—$99,471.57. Deducting this amount from the first estimate above leaving $1,553,000, which must be deducted from the four funds:

Applying the Dow Tax, Fines and Licenses, balances and receipts from all other sources to each of the several funds where they belong and making an equitable reduction from each fund, the following amounts may be levied for each fund, and I recommend and submit as my annual budget for the year 1905 the following amounts to wit:

For the General Fund	$1,400.00
For the Public Safety Fund	$2,000.00
For the Public Health Fund	$400.00
For the Public Service Fund	$2,500.00

Total for Municipal Purposes $6,300.00. That there be levied for Hospital Purposes 3-10 of a mill $2,100.00. That there be levied for Sinking Fund 20-65 of a mill $20,653.95.

Grand Total Corporation $42,441.00.

That is to say, I recommend the following rate for 1905. For municipal purposes 9.7 mills divided as follows:

For General Fund	2-25 of a mill
For Public Safety Fund	3-25 of a mill
For Public Health Fund	1-25 of a mill
For Public Service Fund	3-25 of a mill

Total 9-75 of a mill. That there be levied for Hospital Purposes 3-10 of a mill. That there be levied for Sinking Fund 20-65 of a mill.

Being the same levy as that made last year. Respectfully submitted,

ANDREW L. CRILLY, Mayor.
The Health department submitted its annual report for the year ending December 31, 1903, as follows, extending over a period from May 1 of that year:

Births, 227; Deaths, 226; contagious diseases 44; smallpox 35; deaths 3; diphtheria 28; deaths 1; scarlet fever 28; group 2; deaths 3; average cost per case of smallpox patients, $18.

The Board of Sinking Fund Trustees reported, which report was received and filed.

Property owners on Grand avenue petitioned to have the name changed to Curtis avenue. Received and filed.

A taxpayers' petition was read asking for a grand trunk sewer on Oakwood avenue.

A remonstrance against the paving of Woods avenue, signed by eight property owners was received and filed.

The Style of a "Dorothy Dodd"

Let us assume that your Shoes fit you. Now what next? What is most important? Unquestionably "Style." Demand that a Shoe shall possess "Style." If it has style and little else you want it; if it has not style but everything else, you don't want it.

The "Style of a 'Dorothy Dodd'" Is Unique

It cannot be duplicated by any other maker, because the "Dorothy Dodd" is a totally different construction from any other ladies' shoe made. It holds the foot firmly at the waist (that's the twist), prevents the toes from slipping forward, and thus gives a correct poise in walking. Yet it makes the foot look nearly a whole size smaller. That's curious, and you won't believe it till you see it. JUST FOR ONCE TRY THE "STYLE OF A DOROTHY DODD."

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness, and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains, and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did."—Miss GULA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary Amateur Art Association. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of the countless hundreds which we are continually publishing in the newspapers of this country, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all.

THE RAILWAYS

YARDMASTER FARABEE PRESENT- ED WITH A RING.

F. D. Kane Who Was Injured a Week Ago Has Recovered—The Local and General News.

Zanesville, April 5.—This morning's Times Recorder says: When it was announced that Yardmaster C. C. Farabee would leave the local freight yard of the B. & O. railroad the employees under Mr. Farabee purchased a gold ring that was to be presented to him upon his leaving the city and his position. Since it has been decided that Mr. Farabee will remain in the local field the ring was presented to him on Monday. It is said that Mr. Farabee is appreciated in his services by not only the railroad officials but by his fellow workmen.

Able to Be Out

Mr. P. D. Kane, the B. & O. workman who was assaulted about a week ago by an unknown Hungarian at the B. & O. shops, is again able to be out. The workmen were quarreling with the Hungarian when the latter picked up a rock and hit Kane with it. The latter was rendered unconscious and Dr. D. M. Smith and Dr. J. N. Stone were sent for and the injured man soon regained consciousness. Mr. Kane is employed in the B. & O. blacksmith shops. The Hungarian was employed as a laborer at the shops, but left town after throwing the rock.

Authorized to Sell.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 5.—The stockholders of the Knoxville, La Follette and Jellico railway authorized the directors to sell the road to the Louisville and Nashville. John A. Burkett, formerly of Delphos, now agent at Buxyrus, is promoted in both positions to Van Wert. F. M. Eakins, passenger agent here, accepts the freight and ticket agency at Buxyrus. John Reed takes Mr. Eakins' place here, and the successor to Reed on the night trick is not yet named.

Successful Dance.

The dance given by the B. & O. railroad callers of this city at Brennan's hall on Monday night, was one of the most successful held in years. The evening was just suited to lure out lovers of terschore, and the result was that at an early hour in the evening the commodious hall was crowded with the railroad men and their friends. The hall was brilliantly illuminated and resounded with the merry laughter and ecstatic tread of many feet to the vivacious music furnished by Marsh's orchestra. The program was a very tastefully arranged one, and the hours flitting by bore the highest enjoyment to all.

Local Railway News.

The water supply pipes connecting the B. & O. depot with the B. & O. pumping station across the North Fork of the Licking river, which were washed out during the recent flood, are being repaired.

MASONIC FUNERAL

Remains of Hon. S. S. Williams Lay in State at Church After Which Services Took Place—Presentation of Ring to Son of Deceased—A Beautiful Ceremony.

The funeral of the late S. Slacker Williams took place from the First Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and was one of the most impressive Masonic funerals ever held in Newark.

The remains arrived in Newark on the B. & O. from Washington C. H. and were taken to the First Presbyterian church, where it lay in state until the hour for the funeral, and hundreds of friends of the well-known Mason took a last look at the familiar features.

Services were conducted by Prof. C. L. Williams, of Denison university, and Rev. L. S. Boyce.

The floral offerings were elaborate, including emblems from the Ohio Grand Lodge, F. & A. M.; Syrian Temple, N. M. S.; of Cincinnati, and the Ohio Consistory, Scottish Rite, of Cincinnati.

The Grand Lodge opened Tuesday afternoon as follows, with Deputy Grand Master Ballou presiding:

Grand Master—C. G. Ballou, of Toledo.

Deputy Grand Master—L. F. Schaus, of Newark.

Senior Grand Warden—J. M. Goodspeed, P. G. M., of Athens.

Junior Grand Warden—H. B. White, Black Lick.

Grand Treasurer—R. R. Rickley, of Columbus.

Grand Secretary—J. H. Bromwell, of Cincinnati.

Grand Orator—Henry Fulton, of Newark.

Grand Chaplain—D. C. Winegarner, of Newark.

Grand Senior Deacon—B. F. Barnes, of Newark.

Grand Junior Deacon—S. B. Messenger, of Utica.

Grand Tyler—C. H. Bolin, of Newark.

G. M.—Henry Siegel, of Newark.

The Grand Lodge had charge of the services at the church and at the cemetery.

The following escort from the Washington C. H. Masonic fraternity accompanied the remains to Newark:

Messrs. W. H. Dial, T. F. Brown, A. T. Baldwin and C. T. Parker.

Past Grand Master and Dean of the Honorary Thirty-three Degree Masons of the State of Ohio, Hon. William M. Cunningham, presented Mr. Williams' ring to Mr. D. A. Williams, son of the deceased. Mr. Cunningham spoke as follows:

My Brethren—The sad solemnities in which we are participating remind us that

"To the past go more dead faces every year;

As the loved leave vacant places every year;

Everywhere the sad eyes meet us, In the evening dusk they greet us, And to come to them entreat us every year."

Yet—

"They are not dead! They have but passed Beyond the mists that blind us here Into the new and larger life Of that serene sphere."

In the language of our ritual we are called upon to discharge the most solemn and sad duty that one brother owes to another.

To mourn is but human, and yet, whilst denoting the loss we have all sustained, we bow in humble submission to the will of Him in whom Divine Providence our brother, whose body is in the casket before us, has been summoned to the world beyond.

The mortality of the body and the immortality of the soul are the first as also the last lessons taught in Free Masonry, and the "Trust in God" expressly by the Neophyte in his first step culminates in the "Spes mea in Deo est" of the same signification of the thirty-second degree in Free Masonry.

In his reception of the degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite our honored brother, while kneeling at the sacred altar of our ancient institution, was presented with a gold ring—an emblem of eternity and a symbol of divinity, symbolizing to him an alliance then made "with virtue and the virtuous." In this ring—which was to be worn upon the third finger of the left hand—was described the legend, "Virtus junxit mors non separabit."

What virtue unites death cannot separate. During his natural life this ring was to be worn by him, and at his death it was "to be given only to his wife or his eldest son, or to his dearest friend," and now to you, brother, Anderson Williams, as his son, in conformity with the solemn covenant then made, and in accordance with his wish, I am authorized by these Scottish Rite Bodies of the Ancient and Accepted of which your father was an esteemed member—to present you with this ring and with it the sympathy, love and best wishes of the brethren of our order.

By your father's request I am also enjoined, as an expression of his love for you, to present you with this emblem of the highest grade known to Free Masonry, the jewel of a Past Grand Master of Masons—presented to him by the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Ohio, and the most highly esteemed by him of any of his honors or possessions, hoping that you, too, my brother, may at some time in the future have the honor of being entitled to its official use.

In conclusion, brethren, let us remember that Free Masonry teaches us that the death of the body is only an event in the life of the individual, for "There is only a curtain between us. Between the beyond and the here: They whom we call dead have not left us.

Nay, they were never so near."

The pallbearers were: Messrs. I. H. DeBow and Dr. A. K. Pollett, of Granville; James H. Smith, A. P. Taylor, Dr. W. H. Sedgwick and Walter F. Upson, of this city. As requested by Mr. Williams, the Thirty-three Degree Masons, Messrs. L. P. Schaus, W. M. Cunningham and D. C. Winegarner were honorary pallbearers.

CAPT. CORDRAY

Inspects Company of Texas National Guard and Addressed the Soldier Boys.

A copy of the Laredo, Texas, Daily Times, just received at the Advocate office has the following concerning Captain David P. Cordray of this city:

Company I, First Infantry, Texas National Guard, had final inspection at their armory last night. Captain David P. Cordray of the Twenty-sixth Infantry, inspecting officer. The guardsmen appeared in their full accoutrements, knapsacks, canteens, guns, etc.

After the inspection Captain Cordray was pleased to give the boys some valuable advice as to the services that would be required of them in a campaign such as the prospective maneuvers of regular army and national guard which were to take place this summer and to which the Texas guardsmen would go. He dwelt especially upon the necessity of a soldier knowing how to cook and take care of himself while in the field and cited an amusing instance of his own inexperience in this line while on service in Cuba.

He praised the soldierly appearance and bearing of the company and invited them to join with the regulars at Fort McIntosh at some future time in a squadron drill. The company look forward to the time when they will be sufficiently drilled to accept this invitation.

The Rifles were enthusiastic over the words of praise and encouragement spoken by Captain Cordray.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at Hall's Drug Store.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

WINK THE WIZARD

DANGERS OF THE DEEP
By RUTH EDWARDS

Copyright, 1903, by T. G. McClure

When Morris heard that the freedom of camp life was to be disturbed by the advent of girls, unlike the right good captain of the Pinafore, he was guilty of a "big, big D."

Holbrook and Seaton looked sheepish. They and Morris were a trio of Yale seniors who had slipped away from New Haven in the interlude between the closing of exams and commencement for one last jollification at Seaton's summer home on the sound before they went their several ways. To him and Holbrook the plan had seemed rather a nice one.

"Oh, come, Bill," said Holbrook. "They're awfully jolly girls. It won't be so bad."

"Oh, of course not," returned Morris scornfully. "I know how it will be. We'll have to wear collars and shave and do the 'sassy' act. They'll think it's too cold to go in swimming, and they won't know how anyway, and they'll expect to be taught. They'll insist upon going sailing, and they'll scratch all the paint off the deck with their high heeled shoes, and they'll scream and get seasick if it's rough. And the chaperon will come me and bore me stiff asking me about my studies and whether I'm any relation to somebody or other of the same name who graduated in '07. No, thank you! None of it in mine."

"Well, you needn't see them unless you want," remarked Seaton soothingly. "They'll be up at the big house, and they won't bother you down here at the lodge. You may as well be decent about it. They're only going to stay two or three days anyway."

"Humph! Well, if they butt in like this they'll have to take me as I am. S'pose you fellows will dress up in glad rags. I'm going fishing."

Accordingly when Holbrook and Seaton, shaven and shorn, in immaculate negligee shirts, collars and white ducks, came down to the pier to help the girls and their youthful chaperon ashore Billy was discovered in a ragged flannel shirt, open at the throat, a pair of old golf trousers, rubber boots and a three days' growth of beard, engrossed in manipulating a long fish pole off the neighboring rocks. Holbrook and Seaton marched off up to the house, carrying dress suit cases, and Morris saw them no more that night.

"DO YOU REALLY WANT ME?" SHE CRIED.

He cooked his solitary supper, smoked his solitary pipe and turned in early. With a feeling of righteousness, he woke at 6 in the sweet, cool June morning and, getting into his bathing suit, proceeded down to the dock for his morning plunge. Holbrook and Seaton were still sleeping the sleep of the just and the midnight rollicker.

The tide was high, the air filled with the sweetness of honeysuckle and musical with the call of birds. A girl in a red bathing suit stood at the end of the dock in the early twilight.

Morris was in time to see her throw her bare arms above her head, spring lightly upward and descend in a straight limbed dive into the rippling water.

"Great Scott!" he remarked to himself. "That was a corking dive all right."

He waited until he appeared on the surface, swimming on her side, and then, with a run and a leap, was after her. She glanced back as she heard his splash and smiled as he came up blinking. "Good morning," she called.

"Better not go too far to the east," he called back. "The tide's running pretty swift."

"Thanks," she answered and swept away with long, even strokes in the opposite direction.

Morris caught up with her. "Water's pretty cold this morning," he remarked affably.

"Cold as your -elme yesterday," she answered, showing her white teeth. "But I like it. It's exhilarating."

She turned over on her back and floated contentedly. Morris was somewhat abashed at the slight audacity of her remarks.

Presently she swam toward the dock, and Morris saw her climb the slippery stairs and run lightly up to the bath house.

Twenty minutes later he found his companion of the waves sitting on the dock with her hair down, drying it in the sun.

Morris still wore the disreputable trousers, but his white sweater was passably clean, and he wore golf stockings and yachting shoes. It was noticeable that he had just had a remarkably clean shave. He was meaning to take a little sail before breakfast.

He jumped down into the trim little sloop and began to take the covers off the sails. He whistled softly to himself, and the girl on the dock watched him, her blue eyes shining through her long wet locks. With a cheerful hum and clatter of rigging the white sail ran up the mast and swung to and fro on the wooden boom.

"Want to come?" said Morris suddenly to the girl on the dock.

"Oh, my! Do you really want me?" she cried.

"Sure!" said the laconic Morris.

The girl did not wait for his assistance. She jumped lightly into the boat, her hair flying around her. She wore a short rough cloth skirt and rubber soled shoes. A sailor waist, low at the neck, showed her strong throat. Her sleeves, rolled up to the elbow, showed well developed arms.

"Oh, isn't she a beauty?" she cried as they got under way, passing her hand caressingly along the side of the boat.

"You bet she is!" said Morris, looking into her azure eyes. This time it was his ambiguity that abashed her.

Out they danced into the sparkle of bright waves. The wind swept the girl's hair from her face in a long shining banner. She sang to herself, too happy to talk. Occasionally her eyes met Billy's as he sat contentedly at the helm and were met by an answering smile. He liked her silent good fellowship. She didn't talk you to death the way most girls did. He whistled an accompaniment to her gay song.

"It is awfully good of you to take me along like this," she said at last, "especially when I know your opinion of girls as a race. The boys told us what you said when they broke the news of our arrival to you."

"Oh—oh—did they? I beg your pardon," stammered Morris.

"Oh, don't apologize. I understand how you felt," said his companion, laughing. "We are in the way, I know."

"If girls were all like you I wouldn't care how often I found them in my way," remarked Morris boldly.

"Was the fishing good yesterday?" she inquired wickedly. "You seemed so interested in it."

Morris blushed. "Oh, come, now, don't rub it in. I see what I missed, all right."

"We were dreadfully hurt," she went on in mock sadness. "We tried to think it was unintentional, but the boys speedily put our minds at rest on that score."

"You must have thought me a regular boor. What can I do to prove to you that I'm sorry?" Morris asked, waxing tender in the sunlight of her mischievous smile.

His companion was evidently practical. "I know. Let me steer for awhile," she said eagerly.

"Why, sure!" he answered and gave his place at the helm—he, the self elected skipper, never known before to relinquish the tiller to any human being. He showed her how to steady the course over the sunny sound. She was an apt pupil and laughed gleefully as they met the waves. Morris, watching her, resolved that he would breakfast at the big house if sufficiently urged.

When Seaton and Holbrook came down to the dock some time later for their dip they held their breath in astonishment at beholding the sloop heeling over to the breeze, a girl at the tiller, while the cynical Billy sat beside her and dried her hair with a Turkish towel.

"Gee whizz!" exclaimed Holbrook. "Will you look at that? If there isn't Billy jollying the chaperon!"

Uncle David's Philosophy.

Yew may patch up a pare of overalls so they will do to go to church in, but a patch on a repashashun may not jave it fit to go to a dog bite. My advice is, don't git yore repashashun in no need of patches, fur a patch on a repashashun is derned hard to keep out of site.

P. S.—This is shore useful, and I 'low is one of the bristest things your Unkel David hev ever sed.

Industry and economy may be played to hard as a sissim. If yew cack a boss' he'd up to the yew may save sum greene grass and make the boss some more industrious, but yew won't git so fur in a day.

P. S.—There will be sum munny left to quarl over when yew and me is dead. A wumman may not be a good lizziness man, but I dun notice she never fertzits to name the baiby after its riches—I unkel.

Stopped Growing.

One day after buying a paper from a very little chap a scientist thought he would test the lad's intelligence by putting a few questions to him. Accordingly he pointed to a pile of paving stones and said:

"How were these stones made, son?"

"They wasn't made; they grewed," replied the boy.

"Growth?" How do you mean "growth?" said the man.

"They growthed the same as potatoes grow," the boy explained.

The man shook his head. "No, my lad, you are wrong," he said. "Stones can't grow. If you were to come back to these stones five years or ten years or twenty years from now they would still be the same size."

"Of course," said the little newsboy, sneering. "They've been taken out of the ground now and have stopped growin', same as potatoes would."

FIRST VISIT

To Native State in 34 Years, but Mr Allison Will not Wait so Long Next Time.

James H. Allison has returned to his home near Hartford City, Ind., after having spent two weeks visiting relatives and friends in and near Newark. This was Mr. Allison's first visit to his native state since he left it 34 years ago. He had not seen his sister since that time. His brother, C. B. Allison, visited him two years later, and his brother Asa J. visited him at his home in Indiana 16 years ago. He and his brother recognized each other at once when they met at the depot.

Mr. Allison was but a child when he left Ohio, yet he recognized many places and remembered who lived there at that time. He said he was more than paid for coming. He and his relatives enjoyed their visit together. He is very favorably impressed with the Buckeye state and its beautiful valleys, and says it will not be his last visit.

ELECTION

AT TRINITY CHURCH SHOWS LINES SHARPLY DRAWN.

It Was Almost Midnight When Meeting Ended--Mr. Franklin Defeated by a Single Vote

At a meeting of the members of the church and congregation of Trinity Episcopal church, held Monday evening, the following officers and vestrymen were chosen:

Senior Warden, H. O. Norris. Junior Warden, C. C. Metz. Vestrymen, E. C. Wright, A. B. White, Edward Thomas, David Thomas, W. A. Sprague, A. C. Dickinson, Dr. W. C. Rank, S. W. Haight.

The election of vestrymen in Trinity Episcopal church Monday night proves to have been quite an unusual affair. Out of 167 votes Mr. Beni. Franklin, president of the Peoples National bank was defeated by a single vote. Mr. Franklin had been senior warden of the church for a number of years.

The proceedings occupied the entire evening and it was almost midnight when the meeting adjourned with intense feeling on both sides.

Since the Hoover bank incident in November the most cordial relations it is said, have not existed between Mr. Franklin and the rector, Rev. G. W. Van Fossen. The matter culminated Monday night in the defeat of Mr. Franklin by a single vote. Irregularities are claimed. A contest may result. Some votes were challenged. In one case it is claimed that a woman who has no right to church membership cast her ballot along with the rest.

There is no use to disguise the fact that the election has developed a very undesirable state of affairs in the church, and it is to be hoped that matters may be satisfactorily adjusted so that the church can continue to do the good work that it has accomplished in the past.

For some months past the congregation has been divided, the line of demarcation being distinctly drawn between them on all matters about which they differ. One of the points of contention is the high church ideas of the rector, Mr. Van Fossen, which it is claimed, he has forced on the church. The one faction is led by the rector, while the other is headed by Mr. Benjamin Franklin. On Monday night both realized that the result of the meeting was to be momentous and each had rallied every friend that it was possible to have present. The election, if a victory for the Franklin faction, meant the dismissal of the present rector at an early day, and Mr. Van Fossen realized this.

Each faction had a ticket in the field for members of the vestry. Eight members of the vestry with the junior and senior warden, making ten in all, constitute the governing body. The result showed that the Franklin ticket had been successful in electing the junior warden and four of the eight vestrymen. The contest was then for senior warden. The best the Van Fossen people could do was to elect their candidate and make a tie, for should Mr. Franklin triumph he would have had 6 to 4 majority.

Mr. Van Fossen succeeded in electing his candidate for senior warden, so that on a vote the governing body would stand 5 to 5.

The Advocate had hoped there would be no necessity for bringing this subject to the attention of its readers but there is so much street talk about the matter, so intense a feeling has been aroused, that no paper that prints the news can ignore it.

WHO IS WHO?

Next week The Advocate will inaugurate the latest novelty in advertising under the above title. Short characteristic paragraphs will be published, describing the various business people but without disclosing their names or addresses. Our readers will then be invited to identify these firms from what is said about them. Cash prizes will be awarded to those sending in correct identifications. This has proved a very interesting contest in other cities and doubtless will here. Look out for "Who Is Who?"

ANALYSIS

OF THE CITY WATER HAS JUST BEEN MADE.

Dr. C. O. Probst, Secretary of State Board of Health, Makes Favorable Comment.

Mr. Wm. Allen Veach, superintendent of the Newark Water company, has received an analysis from Dr. C. O. Probst, secretary of the State Board of Health, of a sample of water taken from the faucet at Miller's drug store.

In commenting on the finding the chemist says:

"The present sample is better than the previous one, since the present sample did not show the presence of intestinal bacteria even in 50 cubic centimeters of water, was free from suspended matter, and improved in nitrogen as free ammonia and nitrates. The increase of chlorides in the present sample is in agreement with the conduct of the other mineral findings and is interpreted as meaning a greater freedom of the present sample from the influence of surface waters that are likely to be lower in their mineral properties than the waters from wells. The analysis indicates a small amount of vegetative influence which is of no moment here. The present sample is a potable water and of such a character as to prove acceptable to consumers."

Mr. Veach is highly elated over the findings of the chemist. The new analysis will doubtless remove much of the alarm occasioned by the previous analysis.

Miss Lydia Christian of 75 Poplar avenue has a curiosity in the poultry line, in the shape of a chick, which was hatched last week. In every way the bird is perfectly developed, but is better off with legs than most of its kind as it possesses three. On the third leg there are seven toes, which gives the chick a most peculiar appearance.
